SECTION-B

Marks: 36

Time: 2 Hours 40 Minutes

NOTE: Attempt any six of the following questions from question No.1 to question No. 7. The rest of the questions are compulsory.

A few decades ago, manipulation of genes in people, plants and animals was just science fiction. Today, it is a reality, and genetic modification may have many positive applications in the future, including the eradication of many hereditary diseases. However, like most scientific and technological advances, the genetic modification of organisms for our food supply can be as dangerous as it is beneficial. Because of the potential dangers of this technology, genetically altered plants and animals in the food supply is a practice that should be very tightly controlled and carefully studied before it becomes an accepted and common practice. Unfortunately, it may already be too late for that.

- Q.1 What scientific development was once considered fiction but is now a reality? 2+1
 Q.2 What positive use of genetic modification is mentioned in the passage? 2+1
 Q.3 Why can genetic modification be dangerous? 2+1
 Q.4 Why should genetically modified food be carefully controlled? 2+1
 Q.5 Find words from the passage which mean the following (any three): imaginary, inherited, harmful 1+1+1

- Q.8 Paraphrase the following lines. 3+2
 Though guns may roar and cannon boom,
 Roses are born and gardens bloom,
 My spirit still may light its flame
 At that same torch whence poppies came.

- Q.9 Read the stanza carefully and answer the questions given at the end.
 They have cut down the pines where they stood;
 The wind will miss them and the rain,
 When its silver blind is down,
 They have stripped the bark from the wood,
 The needly boughs, and the brown
 Knobby nuts trodden into the ground.

- QUESTIONS: i. What has happened to the pine trees? ii. Why will the wind and rain miss them? 2+2
 iii. Identify the tone of the stanza. iv. Pick out one example of personification. 2+2
